

This is information for a competition we'll be entering next week. We will be doing this in school, but I thought it might be nice to involve parents and for chn to actually try making their recipe if they wish-which we can't do in school. Is it possible to add a note to the screen please? If so, please could this be added:

This is a competition we will be entering at school next week. We will have time in school to come up with our (Super)potato recipes, but we thought it might be nice for children to have the oportunity to try out some of their ideas in a real kitchen first to check everything passes the taste test! If they would like to note down some ideas at home to help them feel more prepared when we do this in class, then that would be very welcome.

Thank you for your support.
